BALLOU NOT MURDERED BY ANOTHER MAN, THINKS STAMFORD'S POLICE CHIEF

Mrs. Angle Feared for Consequences When She Gave Him Blood-Stained Skirt.

OFFICIALS NOT AGREED.

County Prosecutor Cummings Convinced Victim Was Slain by a Rival.

(Special From a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)

STAMFORD, Conn., June 30.—Chief of Police Brennan this afternoon told an Evening World reporter of part of his conversation with Mrs. Helen M. Angle immediately after she was taken into custody following the finding of Councilman Ballou on the sidewalk before her home, which has not hitherto become public. When the chief became aware of the identity of Ballou and his death at the hospital early Wednesday morning, he went to Mrs. Angle's apartment. She arose from bed to come to the door.

The chief telephoned to Headquarters for Matron Klahrs. In her presence, after they had entered the apartment, he asked Mrs. Angle: "Nellie, what clothing have you been wearing tonight?"

Mrs. Angle went into a closet and brought out a black cloth skirt soaked with blood. The chief wrapped it up.

"For God's sake, Nellie," he quoted Mrs. Angle as saying to him, "Leave that here. Don't take that away." The chief took that to mean that her secret could not be kept unless she had a chance to remove the stains.

"I am sorry," the chief replied, "but I must take it, Nellie."

Mrs. Angle, he said, then fainted and did not make another coherent statement during the night, either in her room or at headquarters.

The chief is convinced that there was no man in Mrs. Angle's room other than Ballou the night the Councilman met his death. In this he differs with County Prosecutor Homer S. Cummings.

From repeated searching of the apartments of Mrs. Helen M. Angle in the Ripowam Building Mr. Cummings is more and more inclined to believe that there was a man, not yet known to him, in the divorcee's apartment just before the Councilman was found on the sidewalk in front of it a week ago.

If it is established that such a man was there and was found by Ballou when he returned to Mrs. Angle's room after going out to get a drink, the motive will appear for violence, to beat out the suspicion that Ballou was murdered.

County Prosecutor Cummings, who has taken the lead in directing the activities of Chief of Police Brennan and City Prosecutor Phillips, displayed today a tiny five-pointed scarf pin with a red stone in the center and seed pearls in the points. He said he found it last night in one of a number of scarves hanging over the mirror frame on Mrs. Angle's dresser. Harry Ballou, son of the Councilman, said the pin, so far as he knew, had never been owned by his father. No one has been found who had observed Mrs. Angle wearing it or wearing the sort of ties found in her bedroom.

The prosecutor is now bending his energies to find out whether the pin and the ties and other articles indicating male ownership were those of a man whose letters were yesterday

GIFFORD'S FRIENDS CALLED IN EFFORT TO CONVICT HIM

Boardman Swears He Saw Him on Roof Where Pocketbook of Slain Man Was Found.

HELD PURSE IN HIS HAND.

"Must Be Awful to Be a Murderer," Prisoner Said—Others Tell of His Doings.

ALBANY, June 30.—District Attorney Alexander to-day made a sensational move against Malcolm Gifford Jr., son of a wealthy manufacturer, charged with the murder of Frank J. Clute, a chauffeur, by arraigning against the prisoner as witnesses some of his own chums.

Gifford, a mere boy and a handsome one, was a guest on the day of the murder, April 1, 1913, at the home of his friend, Derrick L. Boardman, in Troy. Mr. Alexander put Boardman on the stand and brought out from him that on the morning following the murder he saw the defendant standing in the window of the guest room with a pocketbook in his hands. Later, saw the witness, he saw him out on the porch roof under his window.

It was in a crevice of this porch roof that the wallet was found, one year after the crime of the defendant belonging to the murdered chauffeur. It was empty save for the dead man's business card.

This evidence, coming from one of the friends of the Gifford family and the host of the defendant, created a sensation in the ranks of the defense. As it is charged that robbery was the motive for murder the testimony of Boardman was a hard blow to the defense.

Although the son of a wealthy man and given a fair allowance for the ordinary expenditures of a fun-loving youth, the evidence in the possession of the District Attorney is that while visiting in the home of

SAYS HIS GIRL-WIFE WAS KISSED BY DOCTOR

Husband Made Legal Guardian of Mrs. Lyons So That He May Sue for Damages.

Judge Crane in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, to-day appointed Samuel Lyons of No. 2813 Church avenue, Flatbush, guardian ad litem for the girl wife of Dr. George W. Simrell, who is only twenty years old, in order that he might bring suit for her for damages against Dr. George W. Simrell of No. 151 Hawthorne street, whom he charges embezzled and kissed his young wife.

No details of the alleged embracing and kissing of Mrs. Lyons were given in the application. Neither husband nor wife were at home when a reporter called to-day. There is a Dr. George W. Simrell in Brooklyn, but at his home it was said that he was not in.

Counsel in the suit in behalf of the girl wife is David Rosenzweig of No. 19 Cedar street.

200 SLAIN IN RIOTS OF MOSLEM CROATS; ARCHDUKE AVENGED

Battle on Housetops Follows Outbreak in Mustar, Herzegovina—Serbs First Drive Back Attackers, but New Hordes Overwhelm Them—$12,000,000 Insurance on Life of the Slain Archduke and $6,000,000 on Life of Duchess.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 30.—More than two hundred persons were killed and many wounded in Mostar, Herzegovina, today in desperate battles between Serbs and Mohammedan Croats as a result of the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand at Sarajevo, according to special reports here. Mostar is reported burning.

LUKE M'LUKE WINS CARLTON STAKES FROM STROMBOLI

J. W. Schorr's Colt Takes $5,000 Race at Aqueduct—Belmont Horse Set Fast Pace.

(Special to The Evening World.)

AQUEDUCT RACE TRACK, N. Y., June 30.—John W. Schorr's Luke M'Luke won the Carlton, feature of the card here, this afternoon by a length and a half, going away. The race was worth $5,125 to the winner. August Belmont's Stromboli, after making all the pace, which was exceptionally fast, was an easy second, two lengths in front of Charles-tonian. Figniny was a distant last. The time of the race was 1:38.4-5.

At the break Stromboli jumped away in front, followed by Figniny and Charles-tonian, with Luke last. When Luke settled in his stride, however, Buxton sent him along, whipping him around the far turn and soon had him lapped on Figniny, a length back of Stromboli. This successfully pocketed Figniny and finally beat him.

Stromboli was still sailing along in the front as the head of the stretch, but Luke M'Luke had moved up a bit more, and as they straightened out for the run home it became a two horse race. Buxton went to the whip on Luke and the cry went up: "McLuke is beaten!" Close observers thought so, because Butrell was only hand riding Stromboli. Like the good horse he is, however, Luke M'Luke responded to the shaking up last, and thereafter Buxton hand rode him. Stromboli stuck it out gamely, but at the end gave way to the better horse. Charles-tonian never threatened the first two. An idea of the early pace made may be had from the fact that the first half was covered in 46.3-5 and the six furlongs in 1:11.4-5. Four thousand cheered the winner.

The substitution of Kederis for Neander made a great difference in the running of Naled in the opening event. Instead of trailing her field all the way, she was along in time to overhaul M'Luke's choice and Wooden Shoes at the eighth pole and then go

$12,000,000 POLICY ON ARCHDUKE'S LIFE; $6,000,000 ON DUCHESS

VIENNA, June 30.—The Tagblatt to-day says the slain Archduke's life was insured with Dutch companies for $12,000,000, while that of the Duchess was insured for $6,000,000.

News of the assassination of the Archduke and the Duchess was broken to their children at 7 o'clock on Sunday evening. The orphans broke down and their aunt, Countess Chotek, who was present, fainted.

ARCHDUKE'S SLAYER MAY ESCAPE WITH TEN YEARS IN PRISON.

SARAJEVO, June 30.—The youth who assassinated Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife is likely to get off with light punishment. The perpetrators of Sunday's outrages are to be tried before the civil courts and not under martial law.

Nedeljo Gabrinovic, who threw the first bomb at the Archduke and his wife, is being held in custody. He is a Serb, and therefore he liable only
